

Figure x. Genera identified in wastewater samples from Leuven and Brussels, categorized by host association. Initially, each detected species was classified based on host specificity into four groups: primarily human, animals, insects, and other. These classifications were then aggregated at the genus level, providing an overview of host-associated viral genera detected across the samples. unc: unclassified genera under given family.